Standards slipped a little from the 1981 record scores but Scotland hung on for a 5-point victory. Remarkably, despite the better scores in recent years, there has still only been ONE perfect score of 400 ex 400 recorded in the nine matches to date. That honour lies with Alister Allan in 1976. What price another one or more in 1983 to celebrate the tenth anniversary? Scotland now leads for the first time, 5-4.

Congratulations to all who took part on both sides.

Bob Normand
Secretary, S.S.R.A.
